Chips

Catalogue of the justly-famed campus course:

First section: Primarily for Undergraduates.

1. Parking on G Street. Instruction in assuming nonchalant manner in parked car, picking up co-eds; light and airy peregrination; proper angle to wear hat, if any. Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, at 11:00 and 5:00. Professor John Sauer, with the assistance of Kappa Alpha.

2. The Art of Looking Bored. An advanced course for those who wish to captivate. Hours to be arranged. Professor Lydgate Black.

3. Drinking of Cokes. (This of course may not be counted toward a major.) Held at Quigley's, includes free reading of magazines.

4. Park Benches and Iron Fences. (Prerequisite, Course 2.) The fine points of sitting comfortably on the G Street fence. Professor Tacks De Voe and the Sigma Chi's.

5. Ordering of Ginger Ale. This course given at Wardman Park every Friday and Saturday. Fine points in keeping the amount of the check below five dollars. Professors: The sixteen Sig Alphas who went to Wardman last week.

6. Seminar in General Laziness. Given at the Hatchet office. The low-down on bridge, played with worn cards. Professor Rowland Lyon and Associate Professor George Campbell.

And many others too numerous to mention.

Incidentally, someone HAS provided the Hatchet office with a bridge deck. All due to Chips!

We have often heard, "I'd die for dear old Rutgers"—wonder if we'll hear "I'd die for dear old G. W." at the Rutgers game? Or do people really get that steamed up any more?

This week sees the departure of dear old Milton Dennis, a Rollo boy, just like us, if there ever was one. Our loss is Paris' gain, as the old home town paper would say. He was probably the most likeable business manager ever known. People will also always remember Walla Walla, the Ford he used to drive, which met its death in an accident.

Also the elevation of one Rolston Lyon to his position. He is quite as big a sheik as Denny ever was, and will undoubtedly make his mark in the world.

The sororities have started rushing. God save the mark. We won't be able to get hold of the Girl Friend for weeks, what with Little Sister parties and tacky parties. And when the fair freshmen are pledged, they will be just as concealed as the last lot. Oh, deary me.

We have just found a man who has a cigarette lighter that works.

The spectacle of G. W. and American U. wallowing in a lullaby of mud last Saturday reminds us of the fact that G. W. has no athletic field. Rather hurts the pride that we have to shift around from one stadium to another.

Our motto for this week: A new eating place, near the University for goodness' sake.

Herr Professor Doktor Moss rides his latest hobby: tests of fitness for pedagogues. After he has analyzed the whole world, he will probably start all over again, like King Louis:

"King Louis was a valiant king,
He had ten thousand men;
He marched them up the hill,
And he marched them down again."

With all due respect to the psychologist, his prize question to freshmen is (now, understand, this is hearsay): "Is Jiggs' wife named Maggie?" or something like that.

We have fallen for the fad apparently started by Vanity Fair, of publishing stories made up entirely of telegrams. Here is our brain child:

ALUMNI TO RAISE FUND OF $10,000 FOR THE 3D UNIT

Study Room For Men Students Is Objective of Association This Year

TRUSTEE KRAMER HEADS COMMITTEE ON PROJECT

Officers and Members of Executive Committee Are Announced By Dr. Hornaday

A fund of $10,000 will be raised this year by the General Alumni Association of George Washington University to be used for a study room for men students in the third building unit of the University, now under contemplation by the Trustees, according to a recent announcement by Dr. F. A. Hornaday, newly re-elected president of the Association.

Nowhere in the University is there such a room available, and the Association feels that its need is urgent.

At the first meeting of the year, when the project was inaugurated, great enthusiasm was displayed in regard to its speedy consummation. Mr. William Wallis, head of the Mathematics Department of the Washington high schools, donated the first check for the cause. Mr. Stephen E. Kramer, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, consented to head the committee in charge of the project.

Officers Announced

Dr. Hornaday has secured the cooperation of the following group of graduates of the University for service on the Executive Board of the Alumni Association: Mrs. Joshua Evans, Jr., Mr. Stephen E. Kramer, Mr. Joseph Cox, Mr. George W. Dail, Mr. Alvin W. Miller, Miss Emille Margaret White, Mr. Charles B. Richards, Mr. Albert L. Harris, Dr. Cline N. Chipman, Mr. William Gill, Mrs. Ella M. Enlow and Mr. Lewis Money.

This year's officers of the Association are: Dr. F. A. Hornaday, president; vice-presidents: Dr. Oscar B. Hunter, Miss Irene Pistorio, Mr. Harold E. Warner, Mr. Zeno Biggs, Miss Maxine Rolle; secretary-treasurer, Miss Rosemary Arnold.

Under a new ruling of the Association, associate membership is now possible for those who have been in attendance at the University but who have not been graduated. Upon graduation, all students of the University now automatically become members of the Association for one year.

The Alumni Association is co-operating with the Columbian Women in the joint reception to the new President of the University and Mrs. Cloyd H. Marvin on the evening of October 29, at the Mayflower.

FRESHMEN GIRLS ARE TENDERED LUNCHEON

Sphinx and Hour Glass Honor Societies Entertain One Hundred and Fifty Freshman Co-Eds

Over 150 guests were entertained last Thursday, October 6, at the annual luncheon for freshmen co-eds given in the Women's Building by members of the Sphinx and Hour Glass Honor Societies. This luncheon, one of the largest affairs of its kind ever held at the University, was under the direction of Helen Dix, chairman, and Margaret Maize, Louise Omwake, Marie Didden, Virginia Blackstone and Betty Jo Hopkins. Assisting in welcoming the guests were Dean Rose, Miss Hopkins and Miss Jones.

Student Leaders Speak

Margaret Maize acted as toastmistress, and during the luncheon introduced various students, who spoke on the student activities of the University. The Sphinx and Hour Glass Societies were represented by Betty Jo Hopkins and Betty Brandenburg, respectively.

Billie Wright and Marion Campbell spoke on dramatics. Publications were told of by Julia Denning, representing The Hatchet, Harriet Ross, the Cherry Tree, and Wanda Webb, the Colonial Wig. Mildred Thomas spoke of the Women's Student Government Association, Louise Dubose of the Y. W. C. A., and Louise Omwake of the Women's G. W. Club. The Panhellenic Association was represented by Mary Whitney, and the Women's Choral Society by Mary Ewin.

PEP CLUB TO DANCE BEFORE HOME GAME

The Pep Club will hold its largest dance of the season on Saturday, October 22, the day of the Fordham game. The dance committee has secured C. H. 1, and in so doing has incurred extra expense, which will have to be met by a larger attendance than usual.

Kenny Mulford's Orioles will furnish the music for the occasion, starting at 12:15 p. m.

This Saturday, October 15, the club will hold one of its regular dances in the Gym from 12:15 to 1:30. Tommy Tompkins' Troubadours have been engaged, assuring the dancers of first class music.

TUG-O-WAR PLANS NOW UNDER WAY

Annual Fire-Hose Festival Will Be Celebrated Possibly Within Two Weeks

FIFTY TO PARTICIPATE

Potomac Park Again to be Scene of Battle With Fire-Plug in Full Action

Plans for the annual Sophomore-Freshman Tug-of-War, fire-hose and all, are now under way, and according to Dean H. G. Doyle, Dean of Men, the happy event will be celebrated possibly within two weeks. At least that length of time will be necessary for the organization of the Freshman Class, it was explained.

Twenty-five men from each class are to participate in the rivalry, and these students are yet to be selected. It is rumored that the heroes of last year's winning freshmen team will be back on the sophomore side of the rope for the approaching fracas, this meaning, of course, that the strongest sort of opposition will be offered the present Freshman Class.

Losers Drenched

The tug-of-war is always the occasion for much straining of collegiate bone and sinew, and the annual drenching of the losers is expected to be witnessed by a much larger gathering this year than that of the previous season. The battle of might against freshman will be staged at Potomac Park as usual, stated Dean Doyle. There is such a nice fire plug and everything there, he said. It might be explained here that instead of the conventional line over which the victors must drag their opponents, there is a cold and business-like stream of water from a fire-hose, and spectators have particularly enjoyed this feature of the contest.

Both of the classes concerned are co-operating to make the affair a success, and further details will be announced by those in charge as soon as definite action is taken.

G. W. Prof Figures In Auto Accident

Protzman Escapes Uninjured From Collision; One Man Killed; Another Injured

Professor Merle I. Protzman, of the Department of Romance Languages, figured in a serious automobile accident last Sunday afternoon, in which Emmett Kidwell, of 1811 L St. N. E., was killed.

Professor and Mrs. Protzman were driving through Maryland when, about one mile from Waldorf, a large machine, driven by A. S. Goulden, of this city, passed him and cut sharply in front of him, making it necessary suddenly to slacken the speed of his own machine. As he did so, a light car, driven by William Wright, of 2118 P Street, struck his rear bumper. The impact caused Wright's car, according to Mr. Protzman, to turn over two or three times. Kidwell, who was riding with Wright, was found pinned beneath the car and apparently had met instant death from a broken neck. Wright was taken to Casualty Hospital, where he is recovering from contusions and possible fracture of the ribs.

Both Goulden and Professor Protzman stopped to render whatever aid they could.

ORCHESTRA MEETS TODAY

A meeting of the George Washington University Orchestra will be held at 12:45 today, October 12, in Corcoran Hall, Room 1. Professor Gropp, director of the orchestra, has asked all students who are interested in music to attend and bring their instruments, as work will begin at once.

MILTON DENNIS CALLED TO PARIS BY GOVERNMENT

Columbian And Law School Student Sails For France October 18

MERIT AS ACCOUNTANT FOR U. S. IS REWARDED

Trip Will Afford Opportunity For Visiting War Scenes; To Return to Studies Here

Called by cablegram to a foreign post, Milton Lee Dennis, Senior in Columbian College and Freshman in the Law School, sails October 18, for Paris, France. He becomes accountant and contracting officer of the American Battle Monuments Commission, headed by General Pershing. Six months hence he will return and re-enter George Washington.

The remaining days of his stay in Washington are crowded with activities—farewell parties, obtaining proper instructions, and making other preparations for the voyage. He is president of Pi Delta Epsilon, and secretary of Acacia. This is his third year as vice president of the Masonic Club, and he is their representative on the Advisory Council of the National League of Masonic Clubs. Later he has been named by Dean Van Vleck as a member of the new Faculty-Student Body Committee of the Law School.

Active on Publications

He was on the business staff of The Hatchet, being active on the paper for three years as reporter, circulation manager, and business manager. He rose from assistant manager of the track team to manager of the cross-country team, and then to manager of the track team. He is a member of the George Washington University Press Club, and in 1926 and 1927 served, respectively, on the reception committee of Junior Week and on the Law School banquet committee. He was a member of the 1927 Handbook Committee, and is a member of the Pyramid, senior honor society.

Has Special Training

Dennis is practically beginning his career in this important move. He expects to study diplomacy in line with his legal education, with statesmanship as his aim in life. In Paris he will study French in the practical way as well as from books, and the practice he will have by associations and contacts with French people is looked to for better results than could be obtained without a trip of this kind. In Paris, where Americans see so many signs and have so many of their fellow countrymen about them to interpret their meaning, a great advance has been made with the study of French by others. It has been said.

SCHOLARSHIPS GIVEN OUTSTANDING GIRLS

Announcements of Current Scholarships Made by Columbian Women at Recent Meeting

Five Washington High School graduates, representing each of the three local academic High Schools, are attending George Washington University this year on scholarships administered by the Columbian Women of George Washington University. It was announced at the meeting of the organization held last Tuesday afternoon in Corcoran Hall. These scholarship students are: Alice Cooke, Mary Ewin and Marjorie Polson, Central High School graduates; Verna Evans, a graduate of Western High School, and Sarah Virginia Barrett, who graduated last June from Eastern High School.

The scholarships are not loans which must be repaid, but gifts to young women, in the interest of furthering scholarship and leadership. The recipients of the scholarships are selected by a committee, on evidence of superior scholarship and promise.

The following committee to administer the scholarships was announced at the meeting yesterday: Mrs. Joshua Evans, only woman member of the Board of Trustees of the University, Chairman; Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, President of the Columbian Women, member ex-officio; Mrs. Kerfoot D. Shute, Miss Mary Kerr, Miss Ella Given and Miss Dorothy Lewis.

MR. WEISZ RETURNS

Mr. Eugene Weisz, who was formerly connected with the Department of Architecture, has returned to resume his classes, after having spent some time traveling abroad with Mr. Merriam, of the Corcoran Art School. Mr. Weisz is beginning a new class in pencil and pen and ink sketching.

ENGINEERS HOLD MEET

The first meeting of the faculty of the Engineering College will be held on Wednesday, October 12, at the Cosmos Club at 7 p. m.

MARGARET MAIZE HEADS YEAR BOOK

Other Board Members Chosen At Meeting of Faculty Committee

E. L. HUBER IS SECRETARY

Work Being Planned and Tasks Assigned Members of Cherry Tree Staff

Margaret Maize was elected Chairman of the Board of Editors of the Cherry Tree at the meeting of the board on October 8. Elbert Huber was chosen Secretary. As far as is known, this is the first time the chairmanship of the board has been held by a girl.

At a meeting of the Faculty Committee on Thursday, October 8, Frank Kreglow was appointed Business Manager, and Winifred Beall, Virginia Blackstone, Warren L. Briggs, Helen Dix, Elbert L. Huber, A. Frank Kreglow, Margaret Maize, George B. Martin, Jay H. Miller, Louise Omwake, Marjorie Rhodes, Harriet Ross, and Erwin Stumm were chosen as members of the board.

Definite tasks were assigned to the various board members at the meeting held yesterday.

New Members May Be Chosen

Practically all of the members of this year's board come with a wealth of experience acquired through their work on the 1927 Cherry Tree. Margaret Maize is the only board member this year who served on the board last year also, and is thus the logical choice for the position accorded her during 1928. She was also editor of the women's organizations. The new secretary, Elbert Huber, was previously affiliated with the men's organizations.

The following members are listed with the nature of their work on the previous Cherry Tree: Winifred Beall, Art Staff; Helen Dix, Business Staff; Warren L. Briggs, Photography; George B. Martin, Editor, Fraternities; Jay H. Miller, Business Staff; Louise Omwake, Editor, Girls' Sports; Marjorie Rhodes, Class Staff; Harriet Ross, Sorority Staff.

According to Dean Doyle, Chairman of the Publications Council, other board members will probably be added to the staff in the near future.

Psych Department Tests Va. Students

Tests To Be Correlated By Study of Previous Records of Students

At the invitation of Samuel P. Vanderslice, principal of Washington and Lee Junior High School of Arlington County, Va., the Psychology Department of the University has given intelligence tests at the school in an endeavor to establish new facts in the field of Educational Psychology.

The International Intelligence test as devised by Professor Moss and his assisting students was given under the direction of Mr. Harry Hubbard. Coupled with this test will be others which seek to determine the ability of students to master the general subjects of the school curriculum. When these tests are completed the previous records of the students in the graded schools will be examined with a view to the discovery of related facts. Finally, the estimates given by the teachers themselves of the ability of the students in question will be considered and an effort made to deduce further correlated facts.

Similar tests have been given in Montgomery County, Md., with very gratifying results. Aside from the use of the scientific relationships developed for research activities, the tests have been a very practical basis for the classification of pupils into groups of relatively given abilities.

ROLSTON LYON IS NAMED HATCHET BUSINESS HEAD

Faculty Committee Appoints New Business Manager To Succeed Dennis

NEW MANAGER ACTIVE ON PUBLICATION STAFF

Hatchet Mailing List Now Complete; Copies Probably Will Be Mailed This Week

At the meeting of the Faculty Committee on Student Activities held last Thursday, Rolston Lyon was appointed Business Manager of The Hatchet, succeeding Milton L. Dennis, who sails for France, October 18, on Government business.

Under the new system of handling the University publications, the position of Business Manager of The Hatchet is an appointive one, as well as the position of Business Manager of the Cherry Tree. The power of appointment rests with the Faculty Committee on Student Activities.

While the appointment of Lyon to this post came as a surprise in some quarters, it was expected by persons who are active in publication work, it is said.

The new business manager has served on The Hatchet Staff for the past three years, first as reporter, then as business assistant, assistant circulation manager, circulation manager, and later as assistant business manager. His experience on the business staff of The Hatchet fits him particularly well for his new duties.

Is Active on the Ghost

He is a Senior in Columbian College, member of the George Washington University Press Club, circulation manager of the Ghost, comic monthly magazine, and is president of the G. W. Episcopal Club. Lyon is a graduate of Central High School of this city, and came to George Washington in the fall of 1924.

The Faculty Committee on Student Activities, in appointing Lyon, gave a vote of appreciation to Milton L. Dennis, the resigning business manager, for the work he has done in connection with putting The Hatchet on a much sounder financial basis than ever before.

Lyon has already taken over his duties as business manager, and has had a number of conferences with Dean Henry Gratton Doyle, Chairman of the Publications Council, in regard to the financial policy of the paper, it is understood.

Under Lyon's supervision, the mailing list of The Hatchet is rapidly being brought up to date, and it is expected that the paper will be mailed out to all students this week. Some 3,500 new address plates have been made, and as soon as possible all students will receive the paper by mail on Wednesday mornings.

NEW DEPARTMENT INSTALLED AT G. W.

Degree of Bachelor of Arts in Library Science Now Offered by University

Announcement has been made by President Marvin of a new course definitely increasing the scope of work in library science and calling for the addition of a new department to the University. The decision to make this long-considered prospect a reality came as a result of the recent meeting of the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees.

This department is to be called the Division of Library Science, and is to be under the direction of Dr. Alfred F. W. Schmidt. The University already offers three years' work in this line, and it is the course for the fourth year which is being added this year and which leads to the degree of Bachelor of Arts in Library Science. Dr. Schmidt outlines the entire course as follows: First year, cataloging, classification and library history; second year, reference work, bibliography and book selection; and for the more advanced work, special problems such as the cataloging of earliest books, the care of manuscripts, special copy, out-of-school education and the education of children. Dr. Ernest C. Richardson, General Consultant of the Library of Congress, is cooperating with University authorities in the arrangement of the senior year's work. Other experts also are ready to aid in the development of a strong department, especially in research work.

Because of the exceptional opportunities available in Washington, the field is considered unusually fertile. Dr. Schmidt declares that the new department will function immediately.

TRUSTEES MEET TODAY

A meeting of the Board of Trustees will be held this afternoon, October 12, in the board room of Corcoran Hall. President Marvin plans to bring forward at this meeting some problems which have been worked out during the past month.

A PLACE TO EAT

Now that the University Cafeteria is extinct, we are faced with the prospect of finding some place to get a bite to eat. As far back as we can remember there never has been a desirable eating place in the vicinity of the University. It is true that the one can get the ubiquitous sandwich and Coca-cola at several places not far distant from our halls of learning, but every so often we have the abysmal desire to sink our teeth into a succulent steak, or something just as substantial.

At other colleges the "Commons" is an integral part of school life. The student criticizes the food and rave over the high prices, but still they frequent the place. We have heard an unusual amount of comment on the absence of The University Cafeteria, and hope that some arrangement can be perfected whereby such an institution may be profitably established.

THE MATTER OF REWARD

The perennial cry for student support of athletics and the constant plea for student participation in athletics is again being heard. There must be some valid reason for student apathy. The reason is not far to seek, and it is valid.

Canvass the big husky men you see on the campus who are not taking part in athletics, and they will all say the same thing. There is not enough in it, no glory and no reward.

What reward and glory? The glory which in so many schools accrues to the athlete, when freshmen follow the football star around and girls vie for the favor of the track captain.

The time to look at this in a straightforward fashion is now. This first fault may not be possible of remedy immediately, but there is another reason which may be immediately corrected. It is this:

Students who take part in athletics actually do not receive the material awards which their university promises to bestow. They do not get their letters and the certificates showing that they won those letters. Some of the men who played basketball last year, and some of those who ran cross country, have never been rewarded, to the best of our knowledge. This is a small thing, but it seems to the students to show ingratitude.

Small wonder that they ask, "What can I hope to get out of it?"

TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS

As an answer to the widespread complaint that there is at present no study place for men in or near the University, comes the announcement that the General Alumni Association of George Washington is planning to raise a fund of ten thousand dollars to be used in fitting up just such a study room for men students. According to the plans, this room will be located in Unit Three of the University, the building of which is now under consideration by the Board of Trustees.

There has long been a great need for such a room as this. The nearest approximation to a men's study room at present is the Lounge in Stockton Hall. Students in the Department of Arts and Sciences would feel as if they were encroaching if they were to use the Stockton Hall Lounge.

Therefore, in the past, they have had to manage as best they could, but the plans of the Alumni Association, when they materialize, will fill a long-felt need among the men students in the Department of Arts and Sciences. The Alumni Association is to be congratulated upon its action in establishing this fund which has as its object the betterment of social as well as study conditions in the University.

It seems quite superfluous to mention it, but Sunday marked the beginning of the sorority rushing season. For the Fair Freshman Co-ed this was anything but a day of rest, for nearly every sorority opened its campaign with a tea in the sorority rooms. Miss F. F. Co-ed found herself dashing hurriedly from top floor to top floor, from a repeat of sandwiches, cakes and tea to a repeat of tea, cakes and sandwiches, from enthusiastic but boring conversation to enthusiastic but boring conversation, in order to be present at all the teas to which she was invited. And when it was all over we strongly suspect that she still had great difficulty in distinguishing between the Phi Mu's and the Sigma Kappa's or the A. D. Pi's and the Gamma Beta Pi's.

The Chi Omega's will entertain a number of their friends at their annual Apache Party this week.

Sigma Phi Epsilon entertained their new pledges at a dance at their chapter house on Friday night. The pledges probably got most of their entertainment out of doing all the work, but they, as well as everyone present, rated the dance a complete success. The Bran Hughes Band furnished the music.

The Washington Alumnae Chapter of Chi Omega gave a picnic for the members of the active chapter on Wednesday, October 5. We suppose the usual ants, bugs and hot dogs were the guests of honor, but the girls seemed to enjoy it very much and to hope that the Alumnae will repeat the performance.

The active chapter of Alpha Delta Pi entertained their alumnae at dinner in the sorority room on Monday, October 3.

The George Washington University and Georgetown University chapters of the Tau Alpha Omega Fraternity gave a very entertaining smoker in the Jefferson Room of the Mayflower Hotel on Sunday, October 2. The guests were favored with witty speeches and one of the Mayflower's incomparable buffet suppers.

Margaret Rees, Bernadine Horn and Mary Cecilia Horn attended the first hop of the season at the Naval Academy.

Delta Theta Phi Legal Fraternity commenced its year's activities Tuesday evening, October 4, with a dinner and business meeting. Several guests and honor men of the fraternity were present; the latter responding to requests for brief expressions. In the business meeting which followed the dinner, a rousing smoker was promised for the near future.

Beatrice Workman is back again after a nine months' trip abroad.

The Kappa Deltas entertained at tea last Friday at their new house at 1815 H Street.

Cloude Sentiere and Barbara McFall spent the week-end at Annapolis, where Barbara's father, Captain McFall, is stationed at the Academy.

Alpha Delta Pi entertained the alumni at dinner on October 3, in the chapter rooms.

George Washington University was well represented at the Georgetown Freshmen tea dance given at the Willard recently. Peg Loeffler, Dot Schenken, Bernie Horn and Mary Clark all reported a grand time.

Zeta Tau Alpha opened the rush season with a tea in their rooms last Sunday.

Zeta Tau Alpha entertained members of the freshman class at a Bridge in their rooms on Tuesday night.

Maria Montefo Davidson, former student of George Washington, was married recently to Edward Scott Tyler. Both graduated from the Law School in 1925. The bride is a member of Kappa Beta Pi and the groom of Delta Tau Delta. While a student here Miss Davidson drew many cartoons for the old Ghost, before its suppression.

Ruth Daniel, of Zeta Tau Alpha, was married Monday night to William Howard Warren, of this city.

Clarke Beach, graduate of the University of Maryland, and winner of numerous District of Columbia and sectional oratorical contests, has entered the Law School. Beach is a member of the Sigma Nu Fraternity.

"Jimmy" Carey, prominent football and basketball star of last year, has returned to the University and has registered in the School of Pharmacy. Carey will live at the Sigma Nu house this year.

Franklin Lunding, who has been attending the University of North Dakota this summer, has returned for work in the Law School.

The Styx entertained a number of guests at a smoker last Saturday night at the home of Kenneth Yearns. The event was said to be most successful.

The Columbian Women of George Washington University announce the following list of new members: Mrs. Cloyd H. Marvin, Mrs. F. A. Young, Mrs. Douglas Bement, Miss Eugenia Davis and Miss Elizabeth Masterson.

The Phi Alpha Delta legal fraternity held a smoker Friday night at the T. U. O. house.

The Tau Club held a smoker in its rooms last Friday evening, October 7. Professor Grepp was the principal speaker of the evening. William Simons and Hal Auslander gave talks on the history and object of the club. Entertainment was furnished by members of the club.

Theta Upsilon Omega was host to a number of co-eds at dinner, Sunday, October 8.

Marguerite Daly Miller entertained the actives and alumnae of Gamma Beta Pi at a bridge at the home of her mother on Saturday afternoon, October 8.

Virginia Blackstone spent last week-end at Annapolis.

The Alumnae of Gamma Beta Pi entertained at a tea in the fraternity rooms last Monday afternoon from 4 to 7.

A number of S. A. E's celebrated pay day at Wardman last Friday, October 7. Included in the bunch were Babe White and Betty Brandenburg, Roger Barnes and Peggy Eckels, Colin McRae and Betsy Hoge, George Muth and Margaret Hoover, Bill Licklider and Peggy Jackson, Burch Tennyson and Martha Henshaw, Scott Rigby and Billie Wright, Betty Miles and Eldred Dickinson.

A dance is to be given by the Kappa Alpha fraternity in Corcoran Hall on Saturday, October 22, after the Fordham-G. W. game. Austin Getty's Dagmar Orchestra will furnish the music for dancing from nine until twelve. All students of the University are invited to attend.

October 14 marks the thirteenth year for Phi Alpha at George Washington. The fraternity was founded in 1914 by five G. W. students, Reuben Schmidt, Drs. David Davis, Ed. Lewis, Hyman Shapiro and Maurice Herzmark, then freshmen at the University.

G. W. CO-ED MARRIES PROFESSOR AT U. OF W.

Miss Fisher Taylor, former student of George Washington University, was married in Victoria, British Columbia, to Prof. Leslie James Ayer, of the University of Washington Law School. The wedding was the culmination of a romance that began two years ago when Miss Taylor entered the law school.

The bride attended George Washington University and the Washington College of Music. She is a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Southern Society of Letters, the United Daughters of the Confederacy, and International Association of Arts and Letters, and has been active socially in Washington and North Carolina.

cheer-leader

EVERY pipe is a Sunny Jimmy-pipe when it's packed with P.A. The tidy red tin chases the blues—and how! Why, you feel better the instant you open the tin and get that marvelous P.A. aroma. Every chore becomes a cheer, and you're sitting on top of the world.

Then you load up and light up. That taste—that never-to-be-forgotten, can't-get-too-much-of-it taste! Cool as a cut-in from the stag-line. Sweet as retaliation. Mild and mellow and long-burning, with a balanced body that satisfies, right to the bottom of the bowl.

You find that P.A. never bites your tongue or parches your throat, no matter how often you stoke and smoke. Get on the sunny side of life with a pipe and P.A. Buy a tidy red tin today and make the personal test. Pipes were born for tobacco like this.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, round and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and punch removed by the Prince Albert process.

Colonials Defeat American University

AMERICAN U. IS VANQUISHED BY FAST COLONIALS

Rain Makes Field a Quagmire And Slows Up Speedy Methodists

SHORTY SANDERS' PLAY OUTSTANDING SURPRISE

Reserve Material Used to Good Advantage and Hatchetmen Have Little Trouble to Win

By KINGSLAND PRENDER

By outplaying their rivals in every department of the game the George Washington University gridmen crushed the much lighter American University team, 27-0, on the rain-soaked Tidal Basin field last Saturday afternoon. The battle was scheduled for the Central Stadium, but due to the poor condition of the ground a shift of scene was essential.

The continual drizzle and the soft, soggy soil seemed to slow up the speedy Methodists thereby eliminating one of their chief assets. On the contrary the heavy underdog seemed to add wings to the fast-flying feet of Shorty Sanders, diminutive Colonial field general.

Incidentally, Shorty was not considered the regular quarter while "Chaiky" Lopenan was able to play, but when given his chance Saturday he convinced Coach Crum that he has the "goods." The little signal-caller not only outthought the opposition, but consistently carried the oval himself, skirting the ends and bucking the line for huge gains. Near the end of the first quarter Shorty eluded a broken field for forty yards to score the second Colonial touchdown.

Sapp and Stehman Star

The brilliant all-round play of Henry Sapp, former captain, and the excellent punting and drop-kicking of Ivan Stehman deserve unstinted praise. These veterans both crossed the goal line for touchdowns and otherwise proved annoyances to the boys from Wesley Heights.

Captain Tom Sawyer of the vanquished was the high light for his team until he was compelled to leave the game in the first period as a result of a dislocated shoulder. His loss apparently had its psychological effect

Men Meet To Plan Big Football Rally

Marvin Feature, Speaker of Pep Meeting On October 21 Before Fordham Game

Enthusiasm plus will be the keynote of a huge football rally to be held in the Gymnasium on Friday evening, October 21, as a pep-producer for the Fordham game to be held the following day.

For that purpose fifteen prominent men students met yesterday in Dean Doyle's office to discuss plans for the affair. Dr. Marvin is expected to make the speech of the evening, while Dean H. G. Doyle, Secretary Elmer Louis Kayser, Dr. L. J. Ragatz, and Coach "Maud" Crum will probably be called on for short addresses.

The football team will be present en masse, and Jerry Sickler and his cheer-leaders will instruct and lead in new and old yells as practice for the coming game. Freshmen will undoubtedly be present in full force. Following the meeting, eats will probably be served.

In taking some fight out of the erstwhile plucky American team.

However, Jim Birthright made a desperate effort to carry on where his leader had ceased. His passing and running netted many yards but his mates seemed to lack the punch to penetrate the Hatchite defense.

Both teams displayed a remarkable air game. It was not necessary for the Crummen to resort to the forward pass as the backfield gained almost at will through the American line. The Colonial front defense, with Capt. Dave Allshouse and Allen Perry being particularly outstanding, so consistently repulsed the "enemy" attack that the Methodists were compelled to adopt the aerial game during the last half.

Shortly after three o'clock the teams lined up for action and shortly after that the Colonials started an unobstructed march down the field, getting three successive first downs. On a complicated play near the American goal line Mike Goldman recovered a fumble for a touchdown. Stehman's educated toe made it seven up.

Sanders Makes Touchdown

The teams chased each other up and down the field until Clapper got off to a long run, putting the oval on the forty-yard line on the American side. It was from here that Shorty Sanders dashed to his touchdown. Stehman again drop-kicked the leather between the goal posts for the extra point.

The only play of the game bordering on the spectacular resulted in a touchdown for the Colonials. It came toward the end of the first half when Henry Sapp leapt in the air to intercept a pass from the opposition, running nearly forty yards through a broken field. Stehman again made good for the point.

The half ended with the Crummen leading 21-0.

The third quarter saw the American defense reach its height to stop a Colonial team composed mostly of second string men. It was also in this period that the Springston combination did most of its ground gaining. The Hatchette defense finally frustrated the American air attack. Neither team was able to ring up a count in this quarter.

The Methodists fought valiantly in the last period and held the Colonials scoreless until the last few minutes when Stehman crashed over after Clapper had advanced the ball to the two-yard line by a series of runs. Stehman's attempt at the extra point was a trifle wide.

Here is how it happened:

Physical Ed Plans To Be Announced

Crum Says "Future of Athletics" at G. W. Depends upon Freshmen Physical Education

Arrangements for Physical Education for Freshmen men are still under consideration by the administration.

Coach Crum states, "The future of athletics under the one-year rule depends on the physical education given the entering men and their interest in trying out for all freshmen teams."

Questioning the last year's "Frosh" The Hatchet finds these men favorably inclined towards the physical education program. Keen competition was displayed in their athletic contests which were held in the Gym and the back yard stadium. Particularly noticeable was the interest shown by the students in their classmates who excelled in this competition. More school spirit was created than has been shown in the past few years, when these men urged their more proficient classmates to go out for varsity teams. Several of these men are now wearing varsity letters.

Voicing of favorable opinions towards physical education for freshmen by members of the faculty, the Dean of Men, the Director of Athletics and above all the student body proves that it is a success.

FORTY-FOUR GIRLS WILL PLAY IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Forty-four girls are on the list to play in the fall tennis tournament which started Thursday, October 6, 1927. This is larger than any competitive tennis group for many years.

A number of matches have already been played and are reported as follows:

Berryman-Phillips:

Berryman, score 8-6, 6-3.

Gwendolyn Warren-Eleanor Wilson:

Wilson, score 6-1, 6-3.

Josephine Grey-Ruth Wells:

Wells, score 6-2, 6-1.

Morris-Kyle:

Morris, score 6-2, 6-2.

MORE OUT FOR HOCKEY

Each practice adds a few more girls to the ever-increasing number who report for hockey. The count, to date, is thirty-nine, which is a record for this sport at the University.

Many freshmen, as well as the players of previous years, have turned out for hockey and are working hard at the three practices a week. Instruction is given in stick-work on Monday and Tuesday. The freshmen are doing good work and several show promise of making the Varsity team.

Gate And Key Society Holds First Meeting

Will Give Dance at T. U. O. House After G. W.-Fordham Game

Gate and Key Inter-Fraternity Honorary Society's first meeting of the year, was the scene of much inter-fraternity greeting among the members, most of whom had been separated during the past few months. Vacancies in several of the fraternities were filled from the names which were proposed, and will be announced in the near future.

Most of the meeting was taken up with discussion of the social program of the year, for which Gate and Key has an enviable reputation. An opening dance, which will also be in the form of a celebration of the G. W.-Fordham game on the night of the twenty-second, will be given at the T. U. O. House.

October 16th is the date set for a party to be held at Camp Saesca on the Potomac. Lunches, campfires and much harmony will be the order of the day, with Johnny Ketcham as master of ceremonies.

COACH PRIMES COLONIALS FOR RUTGERS GAME

Hatchet Team, With Two Victories, Will Meet Scarlet Eleven

COACH ROCKAFELLAR DRILLS FERRYITES

Rutgers Aggregation Has Broken Even in Two Games Played Thus Far

With two very decisive victories behind them, the Colonial gridmen are polishing up their game this week in preparation for their most difficult game so far, the meeting with the strong Rutgers University team on the field at New Brunswick, N. J., set for next Saturday, October 15.

The Buff and Blue eleven trimmed the City College of New York in their opener Saturday before last at Lewisohn Stadium, New York City, by a 19 to 6 score, and went through the American University line last Saturday at Tidal Basin field for four touchdowns annexing three extra points for a count of 27 to 0.

Rutgers Splits Games

The Scarlet Rutgers eleven has played two games, the first with Manhattan College of New York, whom they vanquished 26 to 4, and the strong Lafayette team which rolled up a 56 to 0 score on them. This will be the first meeting of the G. W. warriors with the Rutgers gridmen, and is one of the tilts that makes this season's schedule the most difficult ever attempted.

Coach Rockefeller, mentor of the New Brunswick squad, has been drilling his men constantly in the last two weeks in the art of aerial attack, in which the Scarlet team seems to be weakest. The Rutgers lines are probably their strongest feature, their backfield being somewhat light and weak at punting. Flackbarth, last year sub on the Rutgers squad, and this year's halfback, stands forth as the strongest man in the New Brunswick assembly, having scored three of the four touchdowns annexed by the Scarlet eleven. He has replaced the veteran halfback, Young, in the last two games.

Morgan, left tackle for the New Jersey gridmen, is another man to inspire fear.

Colonials Remove Weak Spots

Coach "Maud" Crum has been drilling his Buff and Blue eleven this week to eliminate the weak spots that have been brought to light in the past two weeks, and though hampered by a lack of substitute material, is well pleased with the progress shown by his gridmen.

With two good men for quarterbacks, "Chaiky" Lopenan, regular field general, and Shorty Sanders, who proved his worth in the American University game, together with two able centers in Walker and Athey, the Colonial supporters can feel secure in the safety of these important positions.

Stehman is making himself famous from the booting and passing standpoint, and Henry Sapp, former captain, is the same dependable all-around player of last year. Clapper is playing a real game at left half.

The linemen have proved their real worth by allowing no scoring through them. The C. C. N. Y. touchdown having been made through a long run after an intercepted pass. Ample speed can be boasted of by both teams, and the lines are sufficiently strong to insure a fight to the finish on next Saturday afternoon.

Columbian Women And Alumni Plan Reception For Dr. And Mrs. Marvin

MAYFLOWER TO BE SCENE OF BRILLIANT OCCASION

Receiving Line, Floor Committee and Committees on Arrangements Named; October 29 Is Date

President and Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin will be the guests of honor at a joint reception, given by The Columbian Women and the General Alumni Association, of the University, at the Mayflower the evening of October 29. In the receiving line, in addition to the guests of honor, will be Mr. and Mrs. John B. Larner, representing the Board of Trustees; Dr. and Mrs. F. A. Hornaday, representing the Alumni Association; Dr. and Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, representing The Columbian Women, and the Dean of the University and Mrs. Howard L. Hodgkins.

Mrs. Henry Grattan Doyle, wife of the Dean of Men, and former president of The Columbian Women, is heading the committee on invitations, and Miss Irene Pistorio is chairman of the committee on hospitality. The wives of the Deans of the University are serving with Miss Pistorio on the latter committee.

Floor Committee Named
Dr. F. A. Hornaday, President of the General Alumni Association of the University, is asking a group of prominent men graduates to act as a Reception and Floor Committee at the reception.

In the group are Mr. John Bell Larner, Mr. Harry C. Davis, Mr. William Bruce King, Mr. Stephen E. Kramer, Mr. John Joy Edson and Mr. N. Landon Burchell, Alumni Trustees of the University; Mr. Charles Carroll Glover, Jr., Dr. Charles Stanley White, Mr. Delos Smith, Dr. Charles W. Richardson, Mr. Claude Owen, Dr. Sterling Ruffin, Dr. William J. Mallory, Colonel Walter C. Clephane, Mr. Henry P. Blair, Dr. Daniel L. Borden, Dean William C. VanVleck, Dean William Cline Borden, Mr. John Paul Earnest, Mr. Gilbert Hall, Mr. Samuel Herrick, Mr. William H. Wallis, Captain Edward Stafford and Captain Edwin S. Bettelheim.

Mrs. Joshua Evans and Mr. Stephen E. Kramer, both Alumni Trustees of the University, are acting as a liaison committee from the Alumni Association to cooperate with The Columbian Women in making the arrangements.

FILIPINOS TO MEET

The Philippines Club of George Washington University will hold their first meeting of the college year on Saturday, October 15, at 8 p. m. in Corcoran Hall 29. The members will elect officers for the first semester, and the social program of the year will be drafted. All students from the Philippines are expected to attend the first meeting.

Lollypops, Hard Cider, Feature "Little Sister" Blowout of Y. W. C. A.

Hilarious laughter and hard cider were the outstanding features of the Little Sister party, held in the Gym, Saturday night by the Y. W. C. A. in honor of the Freshmen girls.

The casual visitor would have received the shock of his life to find men attending an exclusive ladies' affair, but all fears would have been quickly dispelled when it was discovered that they weren't boys at all, but mere fraternity pledges who were strictly business-like in their duty of distributing blue and yellow crepe ribbons, the purpose of which was to be discovered later.

Herded into a famine line, the starving "Little Sisters" were served by a most renowned group of kitchen police, who dished out potato salad, cider, pickles, and doughnuts. The prize confection of the evening, lollypops, were dispensed by Peggy Maize, Maxine Alverson, Emily Maret, Isabel Robbins and Judith Steele.

Mrs. Hull of the Y. W. C. A. kept an indulgent eye on the Big and Little Sisters alike, but we are afraid that these young and innocent little Freshmen finished the evening with only the protective arm of the boy friend to guide them safely home.

SIXTY MEN REPORT FOR GLEE CLUB TRIAL

New Voices Show Up Well But More Tenors Are Needed To Balance Other Parts

Thirty of last year's men and more than an equal number of new men showed up at the first meeting of the Glee Club Thursday last week. The results of the voice tryouts showed that the greater number of the new men have voices suitable for Glee Club work.

These, together with the old men, began regular rehearsals Tuesday and will hold regular rehearsals every week on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 7 to 8:30 p. m. until the concert schedule begins.

It will be necessary to limit the membership of this year's club in proportion to the number of first tenor voices that will be available. The proportion must be on this basis in order to produce effective singing and Director Harmon is particularly anxious to have all the men who wish to sing with the club this year report at the earliest possible rehearsal. It is expected that several more good voices, especially tenors, will show up this week.

Announcement will be made later as to the probable date of the club's first appearance.

ANGLICANS TO MEET

An organization meeting will be held by the George Washington Episcopal Club on Thursday, October 13, at 8 p. m. in Corcoran Hall 17.

President Marvin is expected to be the principal speaker. Several faculty members are also expected to be present.

All Episcopalians in the University, or those interested in the work of the club, are invited to be present.

Former Hatchet Editor Tells of Nationalistic Movement in China

Dr. Herbert P. Ramsey, Medical Missionary, Believes High Point Of Anti-Foreign Feeling Is Past; Chinese Women Like To Boast of Operations As American Sisters Do.

By HERBERT E. ANGEL

Anti-foreign sentiment in China has reached and passed its highest point, and America now has an opportunity to gain a valuable friend or create a dangerous enemy through the attitude it takes toward the far-eastern republic during the next few years.

This is the opinion of Dr. Herbert P. Ramsey, a graduate of George Washington University, who has recently returned to the United States after serving over four years as a medical missionary at the Soochow Hospital in Soochow, China. Dr. Ramsey was sent to China as the representative of Epworth Methodist Episcopal Church, South, of this city, and served in the department of gynecology and obstetrics in the Soochow Hospital, which is supported by the Methodist denomination.

"The Nationalistic movement which is sweeping China is not an unusual or isolated outbreak, but is similar to movements which have taken place in the Philippines, India, and other parts of the world, and which I believe to be the natural result of the late war," continued Dr. Ramsey. "The war seemed to imbue the smaller, weaker nations with new spirit and courage, so that they are anxious to shake off the dominion of nations which have held them in check for so many years."

Government Readjusted

"Quite naturally then, a revolution is taking place, and in this readjustment of government, some units of the Nationalist army have been guilty of actions which discredit the party," Dr. Ramsey explained when asked about the Nanking incident.

The missionary-doctor believes that the riots and looting in Nanking, which caused the shelling of the city by foreign warships before the safety of Americans and Europeans was assured, were caused by a general who was envious of the success of General Chiang Kai-Shek, Nationalist commander of that district. "In this way, the rival general had hoped either to discredit Kai-Shek with other nations and his own people, or to cause foreign intervention, according to Dr. Ramsey.

"Regardless of whatever the cause was," the doctor stated, "the fact remains that the Chinese people as a whole are friendly to the foreigners; though their actions when influenced by the radical class of their own people, egged on by propaganda by Russian Bolsheviks may have caused the world to believe differently."

Backed by Educated

Dr. Ramsey observes that the Nationalistic movement is backed by the literate ten per cent of the Chinese people, and that it is not selfish in character. Internal strife in China during the past decade or so has been caused by rival chieftains who control certain cities and states; and who are anxious to extend the sway of their power to adjoining communities. The new movement, on the contrary, is not for the gain of any one individual or clique, but is rather for the advancement of the nation.

Courtesy The Evening Star

To this end a definite program has been laid out, under which the national army expects to vanquish the war lords of Chinese cities, whose life and customs are similar to the federal system which existed in Europe during the Middle Ages. This pre-tentious effort may take many years, or it may be accomplished in a comparatively brief time, depending on many internal and external factors.

That the Nationalistic program is really not an individual enterprise is shown by the temporary retirement of General Kai-Shek, who has been superseded by General Feng, the Christian general. No noticeable check has occurred under the new commander, and if anything, even more rapid progress is being made in the subjugation of states headed by oppressive leaders appointed under the monarchy or who have gained their offices through their own military power.

Graduated in '16

Dr. Ramsey is well qualified to speak of the opinions of the Chinese people, with whom he has lived and associated since March, 1923, when he took up his work at Soochow. Prior to going to China, Dr. Ramsey attended George Washington University, where he served as editor of the Cherry Tree in 1914, which was his sophomore year. In 1915 he was made editor of The Hatchet, and a year later he graduated from Columbian College. Shortly before his graduation he was elected to membership in the Pyramid Honor Society.

From Columbian College, he went to the Medical School, and in his freshman year served as one of the three University cheer-leaders, besides taking an active part in all student activities, as he had while studying in the Department of Arts and Sciences. Dr. Ramsey graduated from the Medical School in 1920, and after acquiring experience as an interne for several months, went to Honduras for a year, where he also gained additional experience in a hospital there. Returning to America, Dr. Ramsey continued his specialty of gynecology and obstetrics until his departure for China in 1923.

During the frequent outbreaks and unrest which was prevalent this spring, the authorities of the hospital where Ramsey was stationed thought it wise to leave the property in the hands of the Chinese internes, and go to the American settlement in Shanghai. This move was taken, Dr. Ramsey pointed out, not because of fear for American doctors and their families at the hospital, but because the Chinese assistants were hampered in their work and subject to danger from the radical class because of the presence of the foreigners.

Hospital Unharmed

As a result, the hospital continued to operate during all the riots, and was unharmed. After the anti-foreign feeling had subsided the hospital staff returned to Soochow, and Dr. Ramsey left for America, to engage in private practice. Dr. Ramsey gave up his work in China only after he was convinced that a woman doctor could more easily overcome the traditions and opposition of the Chinese to having a male doctor attend the women of the family.

Women in China are quite as proud of their operations as American women, Dr. Ramsey found. After an operation, no matter how slight, the woman usually tells her friends about it, and as a result, women often come as far as 300 miles to the hospital because some friend has recommended the treatment received.

Dr. Ramsey has opened up a private practice in Washington, with an office in the Rochambeau Apartments and intends to continue his specialty of gynecology.

Dr. Ramsey was married to Miss Margaret Frost in 1923, before his departure for China, and has one daughter, Barbara, who was born at Soochow.

CHERRY TREES

Copies of last year's Cherry Tree are still available and may be secured at the regular rate by application to Robert Stearns, Editor-in-Chief, Sigma Nu House, Decatur 994 or 979, or to Rowland Lyon, Business Manager, at the same address.

"Buffle" And "Bloody" Will Decorate Sidelines At G. W. Fordham Football Clash

"Buffle" and "Bloody," two bull pups, will occupy the sidelines as official mascots during the Fordham game and all other athletic contests this season, if plans of the Pep Club materialize.

Contributions are being sought around the campus for the pups, and boxes have been nailed up in prominent places to receive the donations of all interested. Each of the pups to be purchased is to have a jacket—one of buff and the other of blue—from which they will derive their name.

Regular meetings of the club are to be resumed after the Fordham game, and will be held every Thursday at 12:15 in Corcoran Hall 1. As usual, the Saturday dances in the Gym continue, starting at 12:30.

PLANS NEARLY DONE FOR HARRIS DINNER

Architectural Banquet Scheduled For Collier's Inn On Evening of October 18

Plans for the Architectural Dinner to be held Tuesday night, October 18, at Collier's Inn, opposite the Ambassador Theatre, are practically complete.

This dinner is not limited to students of the Department, but is open to all who are interested in the art of architecture. Tickets for the affair, which is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock, may be secured from members of the Scarab fraternity, who are directing the dinner, at the cost of $1.75 a plate.

The menu will be in the form of a souvenir booklet, which has been designed by Manly Peele, according to Bob Barnes, who is in charge of entertainment. Informality is particularly stressed at the request of the committee in charge.

Professor Harris, in whose honor the banquet is held, has been connected with the University for many years, but has been forced to discontinue his work in the Department because of his duties as municipal architect. Other honor guests of the evening include President Marvin and Dean Lapham.

No award will be given in Class A work because of an indecision by the jury over the work of Verna Flagg and Joseph Abel, who will both receive honorable mention, however.

'26-'27 HISTORY OF THE COLUMBIAN WOMEN IS GIVEN

Miss Virginia Diedel, Past Historian, Gives Account of Year's Activities

VARIED ACTIVITIES ARE ENTIRELY SUCCESSFUL

Scholarship Fund Is Enlarged; Brilliant Social Events Held; Membership Is Increased

Miss Virginia Diedel, last year's historian of Columbian Women read the history at their first meeting for the year, 1926-27 this year.

The history follows: "From an educational, social, financial and political point of view the year 1926-27 was an entirely successful one for the Columbian Women of George Washington University, an unusually fruitful one. We were fortunate in having not only forceful leaders but energetic workers.

"Considering the educational phase, we were once again able to assist worthy students to attain higher learning in our University and through inspiring lecturers to be ourselves enlightened.

"Through our scholarship fund the four young ladies who in 1925 started on their educational tour were able in 1926-27 to continue their studies in the University. During the year, two other young women were awarded this same opportunity.

"Columbian Women work for educational expansion. We accomplished much in this field this year as evidenced by our success in raising money and securing pledges for the $10,000 Endowment Fund for a Women's Room in the University. Through the untiring efforts of Mrs. Charles W. Richardson and her lieutenant, Mrs. Shurtle, we obtained in cash and pledges $5,300, in one year more than one-half of our entire pledge to the University.

"This fund was enlarged by the efforts of a group of 40 Columbian Women who canvassed the whole organization during the week of November 8.

Endorsed Dormitory

"We were at the beginning of the school term pleased to endorse the opening of a girls' dormitory at Twentieth and H Streets, the first of its kind in the University.

DRAMA TRYOUTS TO SEEK TALENT

Dramatic Council Will Interview Applicants For Vacancies Next Wednesday Night

PLAYWRIGHT IS WANTED

Sources Combed for Suggestions for Year's Production, to be Given in Downtown Theater

Tryouts for positions as assistants to members of the Dramatic Council will be held next Wednesday night, October 19, in Corcoran Hall, Room 1, at 8 p. m.

The Board of Directors in reaching this decision at a meeting last week is expecting a large number of students to be present who are interested in the new dramatic organization of George Washington. Several attractive positions are open, although the main purpose of the tryouts will be to discover new material that will be able to fill any place that may become vacant.

Each aspirant will be interviewed personally at the meeting by members of the Board to ascertain the type of work he prefers. The Board of Directors of the Dramatic Council consists of the following students: Edward Moulton, Betty Wiltbank, Marion Campbell, Kenneth Yeans, Pern Henninger, George Spangler, Kermit Girdner and Max Tendler.

Seek Playwright

A budding playwright would be particularly welcome, for among the hopes of the Association is that it may encourage any student who demonstrates his ability as a playwright. Such a person would be valuable to the staff in the event that a classical play is produced, when a revision of script would be necessary. Any original effort by a University student would be considered, and the Board is confident that such a student is to be found here.

Numerous sources have been combed for suggestions for the year's production, but no definite place can be announced yet. In the meanwhile committees are searching for the best that can be found in the various schools of drama. Marion Campbell has made a study of the plays of Plautus and Terence, and at the last meeting gave a detailed report of their nature and character of production. Modern plays, the Continental, Russian, and Hindu are also being studied.

Upon completion of the tryouts, the real work of the Association will begin and frequent meetings will be held prior to rehearsals of the play that is scheduled to run at a downtown theater.

NEWMAN CLUB HEARS REV. J. T. CARTWRIGHT

At the opening meeting of the Newman Club, last Tuesday, the president, Tom Bentley, appointed a committee composed of Nash Knapp, Adele Ferguson, James T. Hoffman, Melita Chavez, Mary Miller and Jack Kearful, which will outline a program of social activities for the club during the coming year.

An interesting talk was given by Rev. Father John K. Cartwright, the chaplain, who explained the purpose of the club. At the next meeting, October 25, it is planned to have one of Washington's foremost architects, who will tell of architecture in the middle ages.

"AND IT RAINED PEARLS"

"It rained cats and dogs," has gone out of usage; but the Kappa Delta tell a new one that rings true. That it rained all Sunday morning, no one will deny. That it rained (or some mysterious spirit left) a string of pearls on the tree top in front of the K. D. house can readily be verified.

How it got there is a problem the fair sisters can not solve. A few feel certain some benefactor desired to contribute to the new house, and chose this unique and mysterious fashion of doing it. Others maintain the omnipotent rewarded them (for what!) by showering pearls upon them. Although the value of the string has not yet been appraised, the K. D.'s rejoice in this piece of good fortune.

HISTORY OF COLUMBIAN WOMEN FOR '26-'27 GIVEN

our hearty support and sincere endorsement as a nominee for a second term as a member of the Board of Trustees of George Washington University. The school is greatly indebted to Mrs. Evans for her services to the University. The women of George Washington are also indebted to her for her efforts at the Convention of the American Association of University Women, to gain for them full recognition in the Association.

"Considering our success from the financial aspect, we received for the year, $785.00 for the scholarship fund and $501.50 for the General fund, making a total of $1,286.50. For this great accomplishment we must thank Miss Irene Pistorio. Her successful financing enabled us to have within the past two years two banquets which each paid for itself with a surplus.

"The total of our financial activities for the year was $6,689.22, including the Endowment Fund, pledges and cash and the Chocolate Fund receipts. This is no meagre sum for an organization of our size. For the Chocolate Fund receipts we must thank Miss Bennett.

Social Events

"The two outstanding social events of the year were the reception given by us for President and Mrs. William Mather Lewis and the banquet at the Chevy Chase Club. The annual reception for the President of the University was given at Rauschers and we were more than pleased when President Lewis told us that it was the nicest reception he had ever had.

"Our annual banquet was a beautiful affair graced with charming and brilliant speakers. Mrs. Doyle graciously presided and Mrs. Evans made the greeting. The speakers were: Miss Jessie Dell, U. S. Civil Service Commissioner; Miss M. Pearl McCall, Assistant District Attorney; Mrs. Alfred G. Brosseau, President General of the D. A. R.

"Our social and educational work are closely allied. Though at all of our teas we strive to have informal get-together hours, we take advantage of these assemblies and have as our guests of honor such men and women who can keep us posted of the progress of their world, thus assisting us in our own educational work.

Lectures Given

"At our meeting on November 2, Mr. Leonard Hall gave us an interesting talk on "Women and the American Stage."

"At a joint assembly in December with the English Speaking Union, Dr. Lewis introduced Mr. Edward Seton, of the University of London. Mr. Seton gave us an instructive lecture on St. Francis of Assisi."

"On January 4, Mr. Faek Konitz told us about the fascinating customs and characteristics of Albanian Women.

"We were fortunate in being able to hold our one evening meeting of the year at the Department of the Interior for which we were indebted to Secretary Work. Mr. Gerald Fitzgerald gave us an enlightening lecture on Alaska, illustrated with lantern slides.

"In March we delved into the future of Washington with Mr. Charles W. Elliott and learned what a beautiful city Washington will be in 2,000 A. D.

Mrs. Lewis Entertains

"On May 10th Mrs. William Mather Lewis entertained Columbian Women at a beautiful tea at her home. We were a bit sad at this gathering for Mrs. Lewis was bidding us adieu, as President Lewis was at the end of the year leaving the University. At the close of the tea hour Miss McCord, chairman of the nominating committee, announced the election of the officers of Columbian Women for the year 1927-28. We took advantage of this opportunity to thank Mrs. Doyle for her noble work for Columbian Women for the last two years.

"Two Columbian Women we must thank for their efforts to spread the work of the organization and enlarge our personnel, Miss Arline DuFour, who secured during the year, 51 new members, and Mrs. Grace Chamberlain, who secured this year, 12 life members making a total of 53 life members.

"As time passes, Columbian Women produce more and finer deeds for the great George Washington University. Having accomplished a brilliant year, the future looms effective and cheerful to us. We know we have a thorough background, made firm by the noble and steadfast support and efficient service of the Columbian Women. We now rejoice when we realize their already proven ability and sure co-operation with the splendid force now at the wheel."

WRANGLERS INITIATE SCORE OF MEMBERS

Veteran Varsity Verbalists Will Debate Evening of October 14 On Value of Advertising

The Columbian Debating Society began its fall season last Friday night by the installation of officers, and the welcoming of 25 new members. The outgoing officials predicted a lively season and good cooperation from the student body, when they gave up their seats to the following new officers: Edward Gallagher, president; James Lyons, vice-president; Charles Laughlin, secretary; Ray Harris, critic, and William Simpson, member of the debating council.

Speeches were made by four members of last year's staff, relating the principles of the society to more than a score of enthusiasts. The new members were then voted into the debating circle and each one introduced himself by a short speech.

Pays to Advertise

The following program was arranged for the next meeting, which will be held at 8.15, October 14, in Corcoran Hall. W. W. Alderson will present the affirmative of the question: "Resolved: That it pays to advertise." The negative will be supported by William Williamson, stellar member of the varsity debating team which visited England last summer.

A lively debate is promised between these two veterans of verbal combat. All students interested in debating are invited to these weekly meetings, and to take part in the general discussion after the debates.

SPECIAL LIBRARY FOR ENGINEERING SCHOOL

Engineering students of the University will have a library for their special use after October 15, according to Dean Lapham of the Engineering College.

The second floor of Building 16, 724 Twentieth Street, is being put in readiness to receive engineering books of the Library. Books to be placed in the Engineering Library are a part of the general Library, but of special interest to engineering students. An attendant will be in charge of the library from 2 p. m. to 5:30 p. m. each day.

This part of the general library is being used to concentrate books and magazines on engineering subjects. The books may either be used in the rooms or taken from the library, provisions having been made for charging same.

WOMEN RIFLERS BEGIN PLANS FOR SEASON OF '27-'28

Walter Stokes, World-Famous Shot, Again to Coach Co-Ed Rifle Team

ALL RECORDS BROKEN BY RIFLE TEAMS LAST YEAR

Rifle Practice Will Start October 11; Night Instructions May be Given

The women's rifle team of George Washington University and aspirants for the team met Saturday, October 8, in the rifle range in Corcoran Hall to confer with Coach Walter Stokes as to the plans for the 1927-28 matches. Coach Stokes also gave instructions to beginners on the elements of shooting and the proper positions in which to hold the rifles.

Stokes has long been world-famous for his own shooting and for the fine coaching he has given other individuals and teams. At various times he has been a member of nine international rifle teams, all of which were victorious in their matches. As one of the world's greatest coaches he has brought many teams into prominence.

Broke all Records

Both the women's and men's teams of G. W. in the last year, broke all the existing records in the United States. The girls who shot on the team last year won every match they shot, and competed with all of the best rifle teams in the country. Added to this, they were victors in the National Rifle Association Match, totalling a score of 2,991 out of a possible 3,000. Another honor was the winning of the Dot and Circle competition, held by the rifle fraternity.

Practice for rifle began Tuesday, October 11. It will continue every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 11 until 3 o'clock. Anyone interested in the sport should report between those hours to the rifle range. The range is located in the basement of Corcoran Hall. All newcomers are eagerly welcomed and may be sure that they will receive the best instruction procurable.

If a sufficient number of girls is interested, rifle instruction will be given at night. A notice will be attached to the bulletin board in the Women's Building and girls who desire night practice should sign their names and the day and hours which they would find most convenient for rifle.

For any further information, the captain, manager, or assistant managers may be consulted. Helen Taylor is captain and Betty Clark, manager. Gene Cuvillier is first assistant manager, Verna Parsons, freshman manager, and Helen Prentiss, beginner's coach. The other assistant managers are Joyce Graham, Estelle Humphrey, Marion Stewart, Emily Mitchell, Katherine Boykin, Katherine Codd and Margaret Monk.

GIRLS' CHORAL SOCIETY OPENS WITH TRY-OUTS

The Girls' Choral Society under the direction of Miss Estelle Wentworth opened the year with try-outs on Friday and Monday.

The club sang at several churches last year and gave some very successful concerts. It was featured in chapel exercises several times.

Anyone desiring to enter is invited to attend the first meeting to be held in Corcoran Hall, Room 1, Monday, October 17.

G. W. ALUMNUS DIES SUDDENLY

Chapin Brown, Prominent Washington Lawyer, Has Heart Attack

WAS ACTIVE IN POLITICS

Graduated in 1876, and Was Past President of G. W. Alumni Association

Stricken with a heart attack after working far into the night, Chapin Brown, prominent lawyer and former president of the D. C. Bar Association, died in his office early Saturday morning. Mr. Brown, who was a bachelor of 72, was in the habit of working late at his office. At 3.30 a. m. he suffered a heart attack, but when the doctor arrived he was sinking fast, and died shortly afterward.

Mr. Brown had an extensive practice before the Supreme Court and before Government departments and commissions. He was active in the Chamber of Commerce and was its general counsel and was a member of the City Club, Cosmos Club, Columbia Historical Society and the University Club. He was a past president of the George Washington Alumni Association, former president of the National Training School for Girls, and former vice president of the American Bar Association. He was president of the Law Reporter Printing Co. and general counsel for the District Rent Commission when that body functioned.

Was Active Republican

He was active in the work of the Republican party. He was chairman of the party's transportation committee at the inauguration of President McKinley and was national committee man for the District during the campaign of Roosevelt in 1904.

He was born in Orland, Me., March 25, 1855, the son of Samuel P. Brown and Charlotte Metcalf Mason Brown. He attended school in Maine and then came to Washington, graduating from the old Columbian University, now George Washington University, in 1876. He went to work in the Post Office Department while he studied law at Columbian, and resigned a year later upon his graduation with the degree of LL. B.

Tests Devised by Moss Will Be Used to Weed Out Unfit Teachers

Misfits, Liars, Bluffers, and Cranks Eliminated Under System Which Tests Pedagogues' Reactions to Everyday Classroom Problems; Pictures of Children in Varying Emotions Are Used to Determine Insight of Instructors

Fitness of people for the responsibility of teaching is to be tested as far as possible by a system of psychological tests, devised by Dr. Frederick A. Moss, professor of psychology. The plan is being tried among the teachers of Montgomery County, and consists of a series of thirty questions designed to reveal the teacher's attitude toward various problems which confront instructors.

Skill in teaching, of course, demands not only knowledge of the subject taught, but patience, sympathetic personality, and keen judgment of typical situations which arise among children. A great many persons never would make competent teachers, regardless of educational qualifications.

Weeding Out Unfit

The aim of Prof. Moss and his associates, F. C. Wallace and T. Hunt, in drawing up the test, is to provide at least a tentative way of weeding out the unfit before they get behind a teacher's desk—even before they enter normal school. A bad teacher, it is considered, can do an inestimable amount of damage.

A teacher who lies or bluffs, for instance, is sure to be caught in the act sooner or later—and then her usefulness as a builder of character in the young diminishes sadly to the vanishing point. A liar or a bluffer has been set up as a model; the children experience the deteriorating effects of premature disillusion concerning moral standards. A nagging teacher, or one of such confirmed maturity of mind that she never can look back into the sunrise days of life and understand the child mind, may produce even more lamentable results than the liar and bluffer.

Cover Fine Points

Yet all these misfits may be adopting the course which in their blindness they consider right. Even the liar may be fundamentally honest. She fears the deterioration of morale which might follow confession of ignorance and considers that she is doing her duty by taking this way out. She simply is an example of the type of personality which, in the great majority of cases at least, is not fitted for teaching.

The 30 questions asked the Montgomery County teachers in this part of the test covered a good many of the fine points of judgment in dealing with human nature which continually are arising in the classroom.

After answering these 30 questions, the Montgomery County teachers were asked a group of questions to determine their fundamental understanding of the science of education. Most of these questions required reasoning and exercise of judgment.

For example, they were asked: Is it unwise for a young lady teaching in a small town elementary school to have "dates" with high school boys? Should a teacher hold herself aloof from a religious and social life of the community?

Is it a waste of time to encourage pupils to study those things in which they are interested because they will learn about them of their own accord? One of the most interesting of the five tests to which the teachers submitted was designed to determine their ability to read mental states from faces—to tell what a child is thinking.

Pictures Gauge Aptness

Ten child pictures are shown—each portraying a different mental state, running from anger through bashful appeal, coquetry, delight, despair, disappointment, disgust, fear, interest, physical suffering, reverence, scorn, surprise, suspicion. The person taking the examination was asked to put the correct label on each picture. This was considered a very essential qualification for a successful teacher.

SORORITY RACE WON BY ZETA TAU ALPHA

Has Highest Scholarship Average For Past Year; Next Four Come Close Behind

Zeta Tau Alpha won the race for scholarship supremacy among the Pan-Hellenic sororities for the past year with an average of 89.87 per cent. The competition was great, as witnessed by the fact that the difference between the first five, was just 74 hundredths of a point. Alpha Delta Theta was the highest for the second semester, but dropped lower for the whole year.

A silver loving cup is presented each February to the sorority having the best average for the past year. Delta Zeta has held the cup for the past two years.

Comparative Ratings

The comparative rating for the second semester are: Alpha Delta Theta, 90.12; Delta Zeta, 89.40; Alpha Delta Pi, 89.32; Kappa Delta, 89.16; Zeta Tau Alpha, 89.05; Gamma Beta Pi, 88.94; Phi Sigma Sigma, 87.89; Pi Beta Phi, 87.10; Chi Omega, 86.97; Phi Mu, 86.08; Sigma Kappa, 85.12; Phi Delta, 84.05; and for all sorority women, 87.85.

Those for the whole year are: Zeta Tau Alpha, 89.87; Delta Zeta, 89.73; Alpha Delta Theta, 89.41; Alpha Delta Pi, 89.24; Kappa Delta, 89.13; Gamma Beta Pi, 88.65; Pi Beta Phi, 87.54; Chi Omega, 87.27; Phi Mu, 86.72; Sigma Kappa, 84.93; Phi Delta, 82.31; and all sorority women, 87.86.

MILTON L. DENNIS TO PARIS FOR GOVERNMENT

This position was obtained by Dennis because of his special training in the General Accounting Office of the Comptroller General of the United States, where he served five years. Such training equipped him for bigger tasks, and when in June, the need arose in the Battle Monuments Commission for one of his qualifications, his selection was made. Since June he has been with the Commission in its offices here. The opening of quarters in Paris where the Commission will be active for a considerable while was followed shortly by receipt, several days ago, of the cablegram which, addressed to an official of the Commission, simply said:

"Send Dennis on first sailing of the Roosevelt."

Although Dennis' duties in France will be connected strictly with that phase of the Commission's work concerned with accounts, he will have opportunities to see all the principal battlefields and places sacred to Americans. It will be remembered that nearly a hundred thousand American soldiers fell in battle, most of whom remained buried in Flanders fields.

Is First Trip Abroad

This is to be his first trip abroad, and having his expenses paid by the Government, which supplies through Congress the funds for the Commission, is considered a fortunate thing. He expects his experience as a mariner to be untroubled by the usual experiences of seafarers because at this time of the year the Atlantic is more calm than in the late fall and spring when storms cause rough seas and nausea.

Putting up chapels and monuments until this great task of honoring America's foreign-war dead is completed will occupy the large personnel for many months, estimated by some at two years. General Pershing, members of the American Legion, officials of this Government, and civilians of prominence touring in France have consulted and visited the spots to be commemorated during many years of preparation for the work of the Commission.

Grateful to those who have expressed their congratulations to him, Dennis said that he would surely resume his quest for an education with George Washington next year after broadening his experience and knowledge in his foreign field of endeavor.

BOTANICAL HOBO SEES THE WORLD, IS G. W. STUDENT

Fred W. Schultz Leaves School For Tour of World And Study

SELECTED AS AID ON AFRICAN EXPLORATION

Is Author of Paper on "Horticultural Observations in West Africa"; Is Student Here

By CARL MARTIN

"It's terrible to have to be a gentleman when you want to be a hobo," is the theory of Fred W. Schultz, Kansas State Agricultural College '26, now working for the degree of M. S. in Botany at George Washington University. Fred should know, as within much less time than the fabled three score and ten he has done a deal of hobnobbing.

Born in Wathena, a Kansas town of about 800 inhabitants, he attended high school there. Upon being graduated he entered K. S. A. C. at Manhattan, Kansas, specializing in plant horticulture, where he remained until his junior year. Having no definite plan in view as to what to do after completing his college work, after conferring with one of his professors, Fred decided to give up school for a year and see something of the country in order to get experience and finally determine the line he intended to follow.

Works on Wheat Harvest

After receiving R. O. T. C. training at Fort Snelling, Schultz started west to seek his fortune or future career as the case might be. From harvesting wheat and oats in South Dakota he moved hay in Wyoming and Montana. Going farther westward Fred harvested apples in Spokane and Wenatchee, Washington. At Seattle he got a job as a waiter on a ship bound for Honolulu.

Arriving there Schultz worked two months in the agricultural experiment station. Working his way back to San Francisco, he picked oranges in the groves around there and Los Angeles. At the conclusion of the orange season he went to Arizona to pick dates. Then through Colorado back to Kansas.

By this time he had decided on plant exploration in the government service as his career. He entered summer school and then completed his senior year, taking foreign language, taxonomic botany, and a course in English.

Now that he knew what he wanted, he came to Washington where plant explorers are selected. Upon his arrival here the future plant explorer was prepared to wait several years if necessary to secure the position he desired. During this period of watchful waiting Fred worked at the Foreign Seed and Plant Introduction Station at Bell's Station, Maryland, inspecting apples and potatoes. He attended night classes in Spanish and filed his recommendations and a copy of his Agricultural English paper "Plant Exploration as a Profession" with Roland McKee then in charge of Agricultural Exploration Office here.

Paper Interests Official

This paper interested Dr. David Fairchild, Senior Agricultural Explorer who arranged for an interview with Schultz whose appointment followed as assistant to Dr. Fairchild on a plant exploration expedition to Africa. The expedition left New York December 9, 1926 and proceeded to Africa by way of Gibraltar.

The west coast was searched for plants of economic interest to the United States. Through the Canary Islands, Gambia, French Guinea, Sierra Leone, Liberia, French Cameroon, Victoria Nigeria, the Gold Coast, back through French Guinea, French Senegal, Portugal, and France Schultz traveled. He left France on the French Line steamer Havre and arrived in Washington April 30 of this year with seeds of about 200 plants, 20 or 30 of which were new plants.

The party had several interesting experiences, one of which was a palaver with a native tribe. The white men sitting on chairs on one side of a native hut, the negroes squatting on the other side, and the interpreters in between. A thrilling, rather than salubrious experience was that of a French colonial doctor in French Cameroon. While watching natives clear ground for the site of a new hospital he was seized by a boa constrictor. Fortunately help arrived and he escaped with nothing worse than having his hands severely bitten.

Sailors Mix Seeds

A group of sailors with a sense of humor, in a visit to a garden in Victoria Nigeria took the labels off the plants and placed them in a pile where they could be found more easily. Another bunch with little or no botanical knowledge completed the work by making sure that wrong labels were replaced on the plants.

Schultz in a paper he has written, "Horticultural Observations in West Africa" tells of the development of Africa and of some of the more numerous plants of economic value. He says, "When one considers the luxuriant vegetation in the tropics and the great ease with which things grow here, it is difficult at first to realize why there has been such slow development."

"But it is this very ease of production that has eliminated the element of worry on the part of the native and they have had no real incentive for advancement such as the people of the temperate zones. The great slowness in the development of the Dark Continent, in comparison to the development of America, may be more readily understood when one considers that Africa was well known and had been circumnavigated several times before Columbus discovered America."

Development is Speeding

"It is probably true that if the natives were left to themselves they would cease developing. They are content to eat, drink, and sleep with things as they find them. However, with the intervention of the white man, things have begun to change and development is gradually speeding up, as more of the spirit of the intruders from the temperate zones is absorbed."

"The natives, from observing the things the white man is able to do and enjoy because of his greater activity, gradually cultivate a desire for things of the same sort for themselves."

As a few of the natives become more prosperous and are able to share in some of the advantages of civilization, it appears more realistic and more nearly possible to the mass of natives than it at first seemed, so that gradually they gain confidence in themselves and in their efforts. With this confidence comes a growing desire for more and better things, so that in the future development should be a great deal faster than it has been in the past."

He also explains that the natives are beginning to learn that in order to receive a good price for their products they must cultivate them more carefully. This is especially true in the case of peanut raising which is becoming a large industry for the natives.

The best kind of Roommate

Rooming with a Remington Portable adds to the enjoyment of college life. It is always ready to help with your work. Long reports and theses can be turned out in far less time, as compared with laborious long-hand methods. Then, too, think of the greater neatness and legibility of typewritten work! Any prof, being human, will have a tendency to give this kind of work better marks.

Remington Portable is the recognized leader in sales and popularity. Smallest, lightest, most dependable, most compact standard keyboard portable. Weighs only 8½ pounds, net. Carrying case only 4 inches high.

You can buy it on easy payments.
